What is a quality register?

Quality registers are common in Swedish healthcare and the purpose is to, through individual-based follow-up of, among other things, care efforts and treatment results, enable improvement work and research that gradually improves care for you as a patient. HAKIR was founded in 2008 on the initiative of the Swedish Hand Surgery Association and is today a web-based national quality register that covers large parts of the country's hand surgery. HAKIR is affiliated with the Register Centre South.

About HAKIR

Information is collected from your medical record, yourself and the healthcare professional who was responsible for your care. Your personal data, diagnosis, surgery, and any complications are recorded.

You are asked to answer questionnaires regarding your symptoms and experience of care. The questionnaires are sent out before your operation, three weeks and three and twelve months after your operation.

Your answers will be processed anonymously and will not affect your further care. After some operations, an extended follow-up of, among other things, power and mobility is done and sometimes an X-ray check is also included. These follow-ups can often be done in connection with visits that are already included in your care plan.

Why is HAKIR so important?

We are keen for you to get the best care with us and therefore want to know how you have experienced your treatment. We want to be able to compare different surgical methods to gradually improve the results and reduce the incidence of complications. We also want to be able to provide accurate information before surgery about what result you can expect after a certain procedure and about the risk of complications.

Please read more on our website, hakir.se about how we use HAKIR. Your answers will help us give our future patients even better care.
